Hangeul Festival: A New Way of Exploring Korea — All ages welcome!

Both a living art and the Korean alphabet, Hangeul is a delicate dance between lines and spaces transformed to build designs that convey the profound range of human expression. Much more than just a written alphabet, Hangeul connects the horizons of poetry and visual art.

Unfold your senses in the movement of the brush and patterns of ink, and explore Korean art and culture in a completely new light. Join us for a unique hands-on Korean Hangeul calligraphy demonstration, with master Korean calligraphist Byung Chul Park. A great event for the entire family, the afternoon includes a calligraphy workshop using special brushes on Hanji, Korean paper; the opportunity to create your own design with guidance from Park; and authentic Korean food.

Through his poetic art, Park illuminates how a traditional language can become contemporary art with global relevance. Recognized around the world, his work is featured at Gwanghwamun, the largest gate of Gyeongbokgung Palace in Seoul.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Welcome to Global Minnesota

As we welcome the arrival of spring, it's the perfect time to celebrate new beginnings. In early March, we launched the new Global Minnesota identity and website, embarking on our biggest change in years. And please consider this note an official welcome to our redesigned newsletter featuring the latest Global Minnesota events, program updates, and member information. While we've significantly transformed our public image, we are committed to providing the same meaningful opportunities for Minnesotans to explore the world, especially as the world experiences change of its own.

In the past year, communities across the globe — and in the U.S. — have weathered complex and difficult economic, political, and humanitarian issues. From the continued global migration crisis to the critical impending U.S. presidential election, we as an international community face many unknowns. But as your local global resource, we've lined up a variety of programs to help you track these issues, understand potential outcomes, and connect you to what matters most. I invite you to be part of upcoming conversations on international migration and foreign policy implications in an election year through our free monthly Global Conversations series, and learn about immigrant integration and building resilient communities when we host the national Global Ties U.S. Diplomacy Begins Here Summit in August.

Change — whether it happens inside an individual organization or across an entire nation — is not always easy to navigate. But growth and exploration are about fine-tuning what has always worked and incorporating the best of what's new and innovative. Stay connected and join us in the year ahead as we continue to build the Global Minnesota community.

RESCHEDULED: The Korea Connection with Ambassador Ahn

Marked by significant points in world history, the Republic of Korea's (South Korea) relationship with the U.S. has evolved into a comprehensive strategic alliance that has provided tangible benefits for both nations. Strong cultural, economic, and political ties continue to play major roles in developing bilateral initiatives and setting the framework for future development. Today, our partnership holds important significance as North Korea ramps up its nuclear threats. FEATURING: At a three-course public luncheon, Ahn Ho-Young, Ambassador of the Republic of Korea and former First Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs and Trade, will speak about the historic relationship between our nations, South Korea's unique ties to Minnesota, and shared opposition to North Korea's recent military action.

GLOBAL CONVERSATIONS: The Future of Kurdistan

Kurdistan, a region made up of parts of Turkey, Iraq, Iran, and Syria, is home to one of the largest ethnic groups in West Asia: the Kurds. Now, most in the West know them for the small, oil-rich autonomous region in northern Iraq called Iraqi Kurdistan — one of the U.S.' closest allies in the Middle East, and a bulwark against the expansion of the so-called Islamic State. FEATURING: Newzad Brifki, Founder and Director of the Kurdish Community of America, will lead a discussion on what the success of Iraqi Kurdistan means for Kurds in the surrounding region.

CULTURE THROUGH CUISINE: South Korea

Known for its kimchi fried rice and creative cocktails in a funky setting, the Rabbit Hole is shaping up to be the hottest Korean-fusion restaurant the Twin Cities has seen in years. But fried dumplings with whipped goat cheese and pan-seared udon noodles with vegetables are not the only things on the menu. With strong ties to his Korean heritage, owner and head chef Thomas Kim serves up dishes inspired by the story of his life. Join us for a truly unique culinary adventure as Chef Kim shares how he bridges culture with cuisine and ended up going down the Rabbit Hole. Photo credit: Julia Merle-Smith

GLOBAL CONVERSATIONS: Foreign Policy in an Election Year

This year's race for the White House is proving anything is possible. Anything. And voters are learning more about where candidates stand on important issues, including the international role of the U.S. With foreign policy rhetoric as unique as the presidential hopefuls themselves, the remaining months leading up to the 2016 election are critical to defining the U.S.' global role and persona. FEATURING: Tom Hanson, former U.S. Foreign Service Officer and Diplomat in Residence at the University of Minnesota – Duluth, will discuss the five key foreign policy challenges facing the candidates and what they mean for the U.S.
